

9. SET UP CITIZEN SCIENCE PROJECTS

Direct collaboration via citizen science can improve awareness of air pollution and mitigation measures among children, parents, schools and communities. Citizen science and participatory research can also enable individuals to share their experiences and/or concerns (e.g. regarding road safety) with researchers and policymakers for all-round action to address significant issues.

GLOBAL CENTRE FOR CLEAN AIR RESEARCH

UNIVERSITY OF SURREY